

CALL FOR CHAPTERS:
BRAZIL: INSTITUTIONS, DEVELOPMENT AND JUSTICE

Proposals Submission Deadline: June 02, 2017

INTRODUCTION

Continuing its publication policy, the Interdisciplinary Center for Research in Education and Law (CIPED), a non-profit association, is receiving papers to compose the book "Brazil: institutions, development and justice".

CIPED works to promote and disseminate the production of interdisciplinary knowledge. Based on the combined experience of CIPED researchers, teachers, students and volunteers, interdisciplinary studies are conducted, providing reliable public access to current cross-cutting issues in public access. We emphasize that the Research Center has external Evaluators, composed by respected national and international researchers.

The publication includes a book in digital format (e-book) with ISBN and DOI, of the 12 (twelve) works that are best evaluated.

Manuscripts should be sent exclusively to the e-mail ascomciped@gmail.com.

Papers submitted for publication must be unpublished, written exclusively in English, which will be published after the researchers' appreciation, who will analyze the thematic pertinence and scientific relevance of the work through the opinion of two reviewers, whose areas of competence are related to The subject of the research. The names of the referees will remain confidential, omitting also, before these, the names of the authors, obeying the criteria of blind evaluation by pairs.
